

I heard a voice from heaven

Text: Offb 14,13
Musik: Thomas Tomkins (1572–1656)

I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me:
I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me:
I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me:
I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me:
write; from henceforth blessed are the dead,
write; from henceforth blessed are,
write; from henceforth blessed are the dead,
write; from henceforth blessed are the dead,
- ed are the dead which die in the Lord, in the Lord, which die in the Lord, in the Lord, the Lord, ev'n blessed are the dead, die in the Lord, ev'n so saith the Spir - it, ev'n so saith the Spir - it, the so saith the Spir - it, so saith the Spir - it, ev'n so ev'n so saith the so saith the Spir - it, ev'n so saith the Spir - it, saith the Spir - - - ev'n so saith the Spir - it, ev'n so saith the Spir - -

14

17

Spir-it, for they rest from their la - - bours, for they re Spir-it, for they rest from their la - - bours, it, for they rest from their la - - bours, f it, rest from their

21

la - - - bours, for from their la - - bours. la - - bours, they - rest f la - - bours, for they rest from their la - - bours, la - - bours

25

the - - - ey rest - - from their la - - - bours. ey rest from their la - - - bours, la - - - bours. bours, their la - - - bours, for they rest from from

Üb. (zum Singen nicht geeignet):

Und 1. mörte eine Stimme vom Himmel zu mir sagen: „Schreibe: Selig sind die Toten, die in dem F Ja, der Geist spricht, dass sie ruhen von ihrer Arbeit; denn ihre Werke folgen ihnen nach.“ (Übersetzu

am Lu